Freestanding Antique Dutch Marquetry Desk, circa 1780-1800

Large, freestanding five-drawer mahogany desk with elaborate marquetry inlay and ball in claw feet. Inlay included exquisite florals, birds, and other embellishments. To appreciate the marquetry, it could take up to approximately 1,000 hours to complete this type of detailed work. This desk was restored approximately 30-50 years ago. We have opted not to restore it due to its beautiful patina and to keep it in as authentic condition as possible, so there are minor pieces missing. It is strong, ready for use and the drawers run smoothly.
