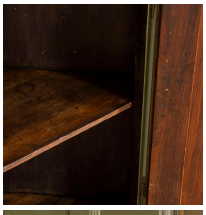
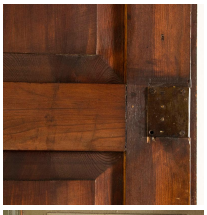
Antique Green Painted Corner Cabinet With Flowers in Panels





Corner cabinets such as this were used throughout the 1800s to create additional storage space prior to the years of built-in closets and cupboards. This pine corner cabinet is a perfect example of one crafted during that era, while a later owner decided to update the look with the painted finish you see today. The green background is accented with a hand-painted flower motif in each of the front panels. This corner cupboard has been restored and waxed, so it is strong, stable and ready for use. Please review the close up photos to understand the knicks, scratches, and age related cracks/separation of wood that is expected in furniture of this age but does not detract from the beauty nor function of the cabinet. Please inquire if you have any questions or require further information as we hope to assist you further.
