Antique Baroque Dark Oak Armoire With Heavily Paneled Doors from Denmark

While the large size itself is impressive, it is the heavy baroque style carving and paneling in the doors and large crown that add to the visual impact of this handsome dark oak armoire. Notice the carved decorative detail above the 3 columns, balancing the large bun feet (note in photos old damage which does not impact strength/function). The interior is divided and reveals that at a more recent point in its history an owner installed a shelving system which has since been removed (no shelves are included). This large armoire has been restored and waxed, so it is strong/stable and ready for use. Any nicks, scratches, distress are expected age-related signs of use. The original interior lock and latch still function.
