18th Century Antique Carved Oak Baroque Trunk from Denmark, circa 1776

It is the incredible hand-carved details that make this trunk or "coffer" so impressive. This solid oak trunk is the type one might see if touring the hallways of a castle in Denmark. The date of 1776 reveals this baroque trunk has passed the test of time and will maintain its elegant presence for years to come. The original hand-wrought iron handles on each side will facilitate moving this heavy oak coffer while the ornate long hinges of ornate brass overlaying iron add function and beauty. Professionally restored and waxed, this trunk is ready to be placed and enjoyed. Any old cracks, nicks, signs of wear are commensurate with age and do not detract from the function nor beauty of this amazing carved trunk.
