

Antique Primitive Cast Iron Crucifix Christ with Distressed Aged Patina

The powerful appeal of this antique cast iron crucifix comes from the rusted, aged almost black iron with scattered remains of old, cracked white paint. The combination of severely weathered iron with the distressed finish enhance the visual impact of the symbolic suffering of the Christ figure. This impressive antique cast iron Christ crucifix was long ago separated from its original cross. Please examine the photos to appreciate the strength and grace conveyed in his body and facial features. This decorative religious Christ figure is being sold as is, in used aged condition. It is made of cast iron and has not been cleaned nor restored in any way. This large iron crucifix hangs over 3' tall and weighs aprx 95-100 lbs.
