Antique Original White Painted Pine Corner Cabinet from Sweden

It is the incredible aged patina of the pine that draws one to this traditional Swedish corner cabinet. The original white painted finish has been greatly distressed over generations of use, worn down to reveal the natural pine below. This is the ultimate, "original" finish often replicated because to find one with authentic aged patina such as this is rare. Traces of underlying blue trim and minimal red are visible in the exterior while the interior has a newer white finish. This remarkable corner cabinet has not been restored and is in solid, original used condition. Please inquire if you have specific questions regarding condition prior to purchasing this or other items in our inventory.
