Mid 19th Century Antique Hand Painted Bureau Secretary With Harvest Scenes from Sweden

This highly painted secretary captures one's imagination as you gaze at the portrayal of village townspeople during harvest time. Hand-painted vines trail along the bonnet while elaborate flourishes adorn the lower 3 large drawers. The 12 small interior drawers were a traditional element in this style of Swedish bureau. Please examine the close-up photos to appreciate the many painted details of this lovely secretary (likely painted approx. 50-100 years ago) including the warm patina of the aged pine, seen best in the upper interior photo. It has been professionally restored and given a wax finish, is ready to be installed and used. Any cracks, nicks, signs of distress/wear are commensurate with age and do not impact the function nor beauty of this piece.
